

Cry of the European Poet

51-15

My words will follow dark dreams
Will give answers to our sins
My words will try to say things
In speeches not meant to be seen
My words follow dark dreams
I forgot all my sins
I have said too many things
In speeches not meant to be seen
My words were once dark dreams
Nowhere to be seen
Nearly forgot all my sins
As I said too many things
These speeches are not meant to be seen
My words were once this dream
It was needed to be seen
Through the eyes of my sins
This was once my only dream
In speeches nobody seen
My words once were this dream
Never to be seen
Even with my sins
This speech was one of my dreams.

THE MOUNTAINS

In strangest ways the mountains I see
They are something beyond this reality
Showing what's worth or not Bring to an end what never will stop
Go out to rocks which like shooting guns
Back to the womb where we lived good once
Tried to remember what all was about
They only thing seems to scream and shout
I don't know my pain and don't know my soul
The world too dark, the world too cold
The world so much, I could not believe
That there is something like sanity
I see it even from above
The ones I hate, the ones I love
They going to places the driving on streets
I only feel earth below my feet
And the dirt and anything which cause me tears
I don't want to live within my fears
I just say yes, it may will be so
But when it happens I will be too old.

WITHIN THE LAB

Now, I see the stars rising to the sky
They are a third of what is mine
Sacrificing truth, somehow it's fine
They disappear first before they reach the line
And build a horizontal web
Of all the words my heart just said
They come so straight, right out of my head
I sleep on roses as like a bed
Will drag me down, will push me up
It's the wilderness in one big cup
So if you also now want start
Then drink the fountain of the mud
And laugh as loud till the world will bust
All which remains is a handful of dust
Blow it away, new fruits will arise
You will think, you will do, you will get wise
And if not who else should now care
You caught yourself in the angels' lair.

ON BOTH SIDES OF THE BAR

A grin, a smile, a loudness laughter

A dream, a mare, a shiny thing

It comes betrayed, it is within

It looks so peaceful, has no fear

Behind the glass it disappears

To be never seen again, my friend, it said

I am the one, just playing dead

Oh yes, you think it is both ends

But you see only through this lens

Which magnifies, which make so small

Which is too big, which is overall

In biased views you cross the scene

You are outside, you are within

But not the same, I told you so

And without feelings there is no go

To went were you have never been

If you are there you will not be seen.

Looking straight into the sky
No one knows the wrong, no one the why
One we had, one we lost at all
On the earth my body now must crawl
Drifting over water that will flow
Bodies seem to moving as we grow
Nothing left alone in this great world
Treasures come as slings that are curled
Coming for the punches in our soul
Getting real and getting also old
Darkness comes and makes the one eyed blind
It is just another one of our kind
But then you said we have to get along
But I cannot find here a anyone
Who will tell the tales I told
The sun is making me so goddam cold
Have said enough now it is your turn
I wait till also your soul getting burned
Together we just tell what we have seen
What we are and what we could have been.

SCENES

Going through places

Seeing the parts which make us whole

Being the part within this world

Too many things, too many faces

As one could be in one long life

It is not like nature is my wife

I cut my flesh with her own knife

The poison runs I cannot stop it

It resembles things with one big hit

Nobody knows who I was then

The next become, the next will went

You said it all, but no one speaks

In my own dreams the words will leak

What I have seen, what you have saw

It's merciless, it is the law

It drags us down, it drags as in

Which fight we need, so we will win.

COMPLEXITY

Far beyond the single cause

The emergence will get applause

It is not me, it is not you

It darken skies in a deep blue

It looks at you, not knows itself

It is the reason of our wealth

I fear it and it fear's me too

We do not have the slightest clue

Of what it is, we can't control

It is the reason of our fall

We cannot think in its own terms

Just within the earth we learn

Cannot see the brightest sky

Beyond the cloud of all the why's

I asked and it answered to me

You are because you are not free

I cannot accept this kind of eternity.

THE STAND

The air is whispering into his ears

Something wants to cause him fear

It is too late to run away

Does not matter, he will stay

He will wait on what will come

Waiting for the final sound

Took a breath, a cigarette

This he will never forget

Death is spraying nearby him

The air was never now this thin

Was squiggling and jumping from everywhere

Like the heaven and its stairs

Above and below where nobody knows

Visible only to those

Going behind, back to the days

Where each decision was further delayed

But it is now here, one cannot run

It is like a jump, straight into the sun.

BEHIND EYES

Cloths on the assisted face

Brings memories of the forbidden place

Stares at you, you have been caught

In the prison without a lock

Cannot be freed, don' want at all

Better let loose and begin to fall

Underneath the darkest walls

Are the eyes of merciless

Are the eyes with promises

Are the eyes you can't get lose

Are the eyes you cannot chose

You lost yourself, it was a trap

You knew too well, but want to forget

Oh dark hair it seems I must love

A secret is behind your blood red mouth

A secret is behind your hairs

A secret to discover I don't dare

Give it away another time

In this land here, it will be mine.

MINDLESS

Coming through walls, breaking the grave

My dear, I love you, the eternity will be saved

Coming through the waves of the ocean

Oh love, I wanted your death potion

Coming through fire and ice

Don't you hear my cries for your lies

Coming through the truth

An aging pattern of the youth

Coming through the eternity of myself

Brings us a fortune, brings us the wealth

A dark and blissful sky will give the speech

Right behind the cold walls of grieve

One for all and twice as much

Going on beyond the invisible touch

A small whisper from your lips

I would die, I would not lie, for these on the hill

And maybe she will, she said maybe she will

I wait for her, I will wait right here

In the room, closed, by me, were no one could hear.

TOO CLOSE

Drafting through the ongoing space

Itself a brand I cannot face

Drunk to the bone I will here swear

The words I said in full despair

What are those symbols mean to me

Another way of conformity

In a blue world with lots to fear

I understand the words I hear

Go on beyond from what comes next

In blurry visions within this text

That drags me down do deeper sees

Far beyond reality

Of visions, circles that we see

Burned down in front of curiosity

It is at first, it is below

I will yield, what I will sow

So get me here the great dark bow

Which kills the fear and my sorrow.

TREE

One thought will give you evidence
That you become the relevant
Behind the storms of modern times
It is the sin which lies behind
The depth of oceans in your soul
Will bring back memories that are so old
Get fine on everything what once was told
And give a blessing to what we hold
The hands so high to touch the sky
There is a scream you hear, but why
In two right angles in same time
You come to hold, you come to love
The only think you do is laugh
In brackets, curved or long
What else is being gone so long
Just all and nothing by myself
It brings us heaven, brings us hell
And climbs the ladders to success
Nothing can be considered less
A moment that will go too fast
It never ends, it never lasts.

TOWER

On the crimson tide one stands
The fall be heard around the world
A miracle that blazes through
On wings that burn the sky above
Below the myriads of us
A blink that will be long forgotten
Up here it is like they are not there
Already in the grave to rotten
But still alive and on their way
Even if the hills be seen far away
What will looks a sea of dust
Not to be known by one of us
The same we are just high above
But still that thing is what makes me cough
Oh truth which lies beyond my imagination
I sing your words for our salvation
As blind man in bitter darkness I will crawl
Until I found the fire which drives it all.

THE SAVE

What if freedom means our certain death
What if these walls will help us all
What if this last step makes us go blind
It can't be chosen, one once said
It can't be worked around we think we found
Out, to the space where nothing is Except the birds which try to sing
For himself men will not find it as the key
But it keeps alive till you bleed
And let you feel what this world is all about
The pain and suffering and love and laugh
Confused we stay and want to know
Who did this all, was something before
The wall will help to sharpen our pranks
It's only us for we could dance
So dance around the wall you see
It was there before and will not flee
It tells you secrets if you want
But in your dreams it will you haunt.

ROOM

Between the tables we stand

Separated through rules we chose

A small smile from you, a small smile back from me

Like a thief

Who steals the truth, who breaks the law

Within the prison bars we do not see

But forever there, no more we Got to fade away, the feelings too much hurt

Still I'm waiting for the final word

That push's the button, the falling sword

A crime a lie of someone stronger

Death through them is happening regularly

And now it's your turn specifically

To burn for love, and turn to ashes

Which will come again through the seeds it was killed for

Coming back with vengeance

Wants to murder all what was once beautiful

A monster created as you break the skull.

Everything I see is dead
Rats are running in my head
Something what he once just said
Going through my shattered head
Not knowing what to do
Feelings are so much like you
Bridges are just one too few
I fell in the darkest blue
Tells me what I have to do
Take the sling around my neck
Soon we all should see the take
Coming words that soon be said
Laughing on the things in bed
Haven't been inside this head
Went away the darkness stays
Traps me corners strangest days
But not over, I said once
I said once, that the time has come
Let's see if they are not long gone.

The one and only which is in my head
Is the end which follows death
My sins have come to end the past
The future is not something that lasts
It burns into my deepest soul
It is a place with a special role
It wants to destroy what I have been
It wants to I will never see
What comes ahead is blurred in smoke
It makes to disappear my hope
It can't be fought it is too strong
I cannot live with it too long
Want to forget but what will be next
The pages need despair to be text
Is it just my imagination
The dust and dirt I'm stay in Nothing but a dream inside a dream
To be a creator you need to see.

Horrors are going through my mind
Left me behind cannot hide
It is wandering through eons that will hunt me finally down
Where my sky lies I cannot say
I wished but never did
The questions and answers I dreamed about
Cannot say what is right or wrong
Here in the middle of something so different
Just like a feeling in the back of your head
Which jumps to you and brings surprise
For all others it cannot be described
Not in this language which needs these letters
And all the other people which have tried
And finally the empire of today
Which makes everything so biased too
One big world the darkest hour now
Controlling everything but fear
And what I am telling somebody will analyze
Compare it with the big wide world
But it is this world, and a labyrinth
Even if not, the darkness needs no friends
And punishes everyone he caught
I'm not this world, and see the desperation in my heart
From this time that shows no mercy after all
But one is for sure, we all we die
It drives me crazy cannot help myself.

Once he starts he cannot stop himself
Now I cannot stop myself
It goes around around around
In my head
Where it will cover everything I could have been
It is just only one world I now can see
Which brings me close to death and fear
And brings me voices I don't want to hear
Which tells me everything he once have said
In words that only we now understood
And caught in everything but Wut
Have to be free from all this madness
Which brings nothing to create with
But drives a fire in my soul
That brings salvation after all
With these words I will repeat
The feast that I be when I bleed
The victim which you all so do not like
But it is you that will soon hide
Cause nothing will stop the necessity
And still my voice needs not be raised
Noir everything else is here like waste
From another world I am telling this
Which was the same as your own list
A something which will hide away
But will come back and then will stay.

Toughest questions on my knees
What you want you cannot be Swimming in the blood like sea
Never will they ever me
Ignoring what was used to be Futures that we want to see
Bring it down, now pay the fee
Go in circulars as you should be Climbing up the greatest tree
Falling down on to what is free
Going to places where you want
Dreams so dark they want to hunt
Heaven waits but it's on the blunt
Far away of what you want
Sticking in your face what's left
Being only one who's depth
Keeps him swimming in the blood like sea
What I am you cannot be.

We love all what is one of ours
But in some time everything gets sour
We still drink from the fountain of life
But everything we want is to hide
Before the horror which is this reality
No escape before we go
In the sea that will us drawn
In the ocean we once were
In a dream that was obscured
From the final destination
What we wanted for salvation
Came in our minds too soon
Now the thoughts are like a spoon
That drips the drinks we want to have
But never will get while in this bed
If we step up we will be free
From now up to eternity
But what we are that was not said
It is just body without head
That crawls around with no things lost
A desperate corps that has all lost
And wanders through the ages of time
It was once her but now it's mine.

I know, you said you hear it all
But one night I woke up
And could not remember who I was
I thought I've been in another world
With another man with another girl
I felt the bed but it was not mine
It felt so different at that time
Tried to remember who I was Grabbed the body next to me
Touched her breasts it was like me
Being in different zone or time
What was mine was what was not mine
I felt the heat I shacked as it was cold
Was I now young or was I old
Drifting through space which no one knows
But kept the promises of those
Which I have sworn to be the one
As I just knew it can't be done
But if I finally now wake up too
The one is me and the one is you.

What nature thought it was good for her
Is what has caused us so much stir
The two as one was not thought through
Can anyone believe this is the truth
I saw the differences and they were too great
There is no common thing to say
Of what is we and what is you
The truth is high beyond the you
It is also beyond the me
It's hidden in eternity
Of emergence of trusted spikes
That go through heads that go through likes
That take your arm and hold you tight
A dream a death that soon sees light
So what we now just standing still
To see what our soul just will
Of course it wants to create the test
What was just once is now sure less.

As these lines will never be told to anyone
So I was told to be everyone
And say everything what was told to me
Let there the word which gives the pleasure away
You know everything and my own destiny is called long before
But here we stay and you look at me
Can't you see that my own experience is neglecting the beautiful place I am in
There is the horizon which we cannot cross
Let me see it what is beyond the dreams of everyone who thinks
As animals we lived and as animals we fell
Once the pain is too much and takes us again away from our mind
But you are here and I can see what the miracle was all about
But should I deflect it, should I honor what is not for me
The loneliness is crippling through our spines
Only the ignorant cannot feel it
And it is he who rules the earth
We are more of spectators of what has been done and will be done
But not now anymore, the sirens are calling
There is no escape for the ones who hear it
It is gone, long ago, but we can feel the call
Let us know, let us know, to make us whole.

Going in the field unreal
The gap is there it is like steel
It brings the pleasure, brings the pain
Everything is lost in vain
Coming through dark ages tales
Going around and want to sale
But both are not the one they hail
The truth is like a fairytale
That sticks in blood which makes us sick
Still want to live is than the trick
Like the salt you want to lick
Hear the voices believed their lies
The things you know are alibis
For what has to be done now wrong
Thee who has done is much too strong
Can't bring back the full, was never there
In the whole filled with despair
But this is what you get from here
Something beyond the sea of tears.

Drifting through time
I had you all
Needed to give away
Dreams have to stop
Dreams need to begin
Was once one
Now I am between the two
No other way
Have to understand
But can't Sitting here in heaven
Inside still the battle
Has to be, she said
I know, but wished
Soon all be over
So much lost
Which made us strong
I want not to see
But do
Seems meaningless
And actual it is
But there is a world
Which starts from here
Let us go there and see what can be found again
For us.

The land was getting dark
Without the mood and hesitation marks
Could you not see how much I needed it
Drowning in this soulless pit
You had it see coming
I will tell the truth
Hiding it like it was the youth
Of new and old that came across
You never knew
You never saw the blood that lost
Traveling now like a damned ghost
That thinks he had what he deserved
But he just hear the forbidden word
What now you said I was confused
Just found myself to be abused
That came as fire came as cold
With these own words no one got old
But schemes have now to be unfold
A story that was once untold
You heard it now, what will you do
The choice is yours, it is just you

Transforming things to feel the hate
To save me it is much too late
I threw away the things I had
You just will think it is my bad
But soon you find out that you are me
Lost in this eternity
With curses that bring more above
Coming through the veins of love
That bringing back the sea above
Another flood that brings you south
Were sailors look for a safe haven
They have to get the foreseeing raven
It told me everything I need to know
That was something I now owe
To me and to the world across
It was the one we saw as loss.

THE STEALER I

I heard too much have to let go

God money told me what to do

It nailed me up against the wall

It took not one, it took it all

I died I let you give control

The darkness is now in my soul

I want to die but you control

Have to bow down to what I serve

I just get now what I deserved

It did not looked for my own cure

Was not concerned that I'm not pure

This was the one think I loved you most

You had me right, you were not closed

Right now I know I am exposed.

THE STEALER II

All words I have are already said
That does not matter, they are dead
And death is something all around
They in my dreams they still will haunt
And bring the words just back to life
The dead are not the one survived
I therefore take what is just theirs
The part that is from dark nightmares
And build it into my own dreams
To wake up with the loudest scream
That wakes again the long forgotten
The truth that lies down at the bottom
And high above the darkness sky
On this large scale there is no why
The only thing one has to cry
About is that he's going to die
Nothing else left behind the scene
It becomes just a routine
The horror which was seen before
Is born again with me reborn.

Tons of iris, forgotten zone
In this hell we live alone
Bringing back what once was gone
In the darkness he will spawn
Coming for the age of lies
Betraying all his alibis
Jumping over what lies below
Death is what his soul will glow
Drunken through the ashes now
Not forgetting what he saw
Was the nature, was a law
But anger came as he must bow
Down, in pits of lustful boils
Massaging it just like its oil
He thinks but do not knows the truth
He sleeps as he don't know the truth
Sleep well my friend, may I forget
That what is left is where we met,
Once and for all, we see us again.

Drunken dreams made me awake
Did not know what was at stake
The dream has told me one more truth
It was happening while in the youth
Has gone beyond the words I know
Was something what he wanted to show
I cannot remember what was about
Just woke up with one loud shout
And saw the millions who woke up too
The devil lies in all but you
Try to get out of this cold mud
What is left within the blood
Is the thing you searched the most
Was not forgotten just be sold
To someone which was not you
Is that the thing called holy truth
Is that what others call the hell
It is too strong I cannot tell.

One river was, too hot for us
One river was, cold like the stars
No one could live in one alone
But mixed together, it was a throne
Inviting everybody here
The feeling comes in like a spear
Forget the life forget the dream
Nothing is as what it seems
In confusions wrote in dust
Your only truth behind the mask
Comes in the front when you will see
That nothing is for eternity
Except that you will make it happen
But your own wings were long to be taken.

I drove the walls, I climb the streets
I bite the hand that once had feed
Me in my darkest ours then
Where you gave nothing what withstand
The thoughts that kill me right inside
I need a place to seek and hide
To seek what was destroyed in me
To hide what haunts me in my dreams
And when I look I see the fear
Nothing else I want to hear
As truth which brings me back to life
A truth which not give me a grave
So high above I could have been
But stuck in this nightmarish dream
Which is like sleep or is like war
I can't remember what was before
Forget the past, future victim
It makes me run, it makes me sing
I do it now, what else is left
Was once just cursed but now it's best.

We thought we had so much of time
A blink away now nearly gone by
What we could see is lost for sure
It brings the darkness and what be lure
Keeps going back and going forth
Just as a dimmer shine of what is worth
Goes down in slops that fit to well
It gives a cast, it gives the spell
Trunked in a thousand trees of green
To hide what has not to be seen
But hear what fights are going on
To live above the green old throne
That keeps away what makes it real
I have to go with nothing what I want to steal

Dinner's glory keeps away
Ghost's will rise and fade today
From the ancestors we saw
But forgotten once before
Tripping through the ceilings
Like the sea within my feelings
Trust no one, not even words
Nevertheless they are my chords
I sing about the insanity
Of all the people which become to be
The powers of this brave new world
They think the right, but tongue is curled
Don't see now, not at the end
The clouds they living it is bright
Still go to hell for all their lies
They all make us a sacrifice
They laugh, they smile, and their grim is strong
Will win in all the possible wars
I can't believe it's like I said
But inside everyone there lurks the dead.

Bitter masks I had to wear
Tried to hide my despair
Wanted that it would disappear
But still is there, and still is here
I embrace the one which makes me hurt
I hate it but it is my word
I lost it once, was long alone
I never went away from home
With boiling soups of darkest dreams
The thing in me it tries to kill
It makes me fear it feasts the fest
It gave it all it gave the rest
Like arrows I see my alibis
They make me strong they make me lie
They give the sentences to speak
What you will see is what has leaked
Trust you what never ending story told
A new doorway, are you that bold.

Markmakers ship sailing through the storm
The greatest fear from largest worm
Swallowing whole but through you must
Our bones will turn to desert dust
To sand and stone your soul will turn
If not the words will soon to burn
The forest of lies which set to free
Was once more here, to eternity
Gave everything they could for you
I still stand here and feel too blue
To walk away without the shame
For you it was just like a game
For me it was the hardest play
Had to give everything I had away
Now stand here still with nothing left
You on your thrown and will be blessed
I see it clear I write it down
What you will hear is your own sound.

Dark stains are coming out my heart
The sunbeams slip away from me
The brutal murdering begins to start
It means so goddam much to me

Leaves in zones that I cannot see
Pilling up in sacred heights
Gives all away to eternity
So much left, but nothing weights

Trumped will fade in the middle
The walls will come down on me
It gives rise to the triple
It will set me free

Going in one, going in two
The more the better, she once has said
Starting the day, without you
Now I can only lie in my bed

Nothing left, nothing left
I want to suck on your breasts
What have you now, what have you to use
A sacrifice that you cannot choose

Within a prison I must felt
Had become to live here well
But the dreams are haunting me
I left everything I wanted to be Seeing what has washed away
I don't want to stay today
Was once free, but now the chains
Drain away the love and hate
And leave me with a space of nil
When it ever will begin
The rise of hate the rise of fear
Will it stop and disappear
And will leave what once was left
I say what again will be my guest
Today and in the future
Nothing more than a creature
Go away, stay here, cannot decide
My heart will be just open wide
For you to come and take it away
It will gone, and I will stay.

Wasting all my life, to make you disappear
I just go beyond the things I know I have to fear
My dreams were shattered once and before
Going in dam circles till I don't want to feel anymore
It makes me all too hurt, it makes it all less worth
I just have one thing in mind, and it start's killing myself
It makes it all the way in, it makes all a new begin
But just want it now as nothing else is left
You came to me once and said its o.k.
But then you took a smile and went too far away
All the pleasures I now have
Are from the hell that opened up its gates
So go away from me, or please stay with me
I just don't know what to believe
And want to search the besiege
But dead among the poor is a waste to see
Just corpses in my rotten memory.

A heart with only pure long rage
Against the dreams that once was yours
Giving all away, so nothing is left
Fire and smoke the clouds in the sky
Drifting through the ashes
Forgotten what was all about
Now sailing like a boat without a wind
Seeing things that don't exist
Like energy which goes down at all
Driving madness, driving fears
It could not be in but out the years
Could not say to you what I meant
You would not understand, even if I could Making your own sense out of this all
What you would see, completely different from my view
But perspectives never change
As long as the brain sees its never ending past
If one has seen, he would be free
But lost the other not just for now but for eternity
Let give it away what once was worth a million
On the other hand it does not mean too much
But these feelings cripple through the skin
Searching for escape, they feel so trapped within.

Good has given, bad has brought
A symmetrical search was not the thing you taught
But now you give it away, just for free
The thoughts are running through, like if they were a tree
Can't seem to find an end just losing time
To search the only thing that once was just mine
It makes no sense what was for all
The individual you've been is at last your own wall
Drinking blocks of the extreme Approximations to what you have been
Do not know what now we are Looking strange\ looking bizarre
In a world with the right angles
A view will drift to what is like a sample
A photograph that teach you nothing
A way here out, is what I am asking
But no one hears and no one sees
It is a world full of misery
As I have seen your glory face
There is no room there is no space
For anything that is but you
Are you the lie, are you the truth.

I cried in this, my only world is you
If something would be actually just true
With me the wings will burn so we could fall
It does not matter anything at all
But that's just me and you have other thoughts
I want to see but all I hear are laughs
Of fallen angels that will praise my rise
I already have paid what was the price
So, why can't you just stand by my side
So, why can't you just standing by my side
You took my soul and took away my pride
The only thing I listening to is you
If I could see the darkest clouds just through
But kisses gone and nothing left of me
It was the thing I never wanted to see
Be brave it was what I was told
The torch in my hand I was too bold
And saw the writings on the bloody wall
It is the end, nothing has to be said at all.

THE GAP I

Where the feelings fall behind the fall
Mysterious at ancient walls
Climb through the fires of decay
Will take my soul too soon away
Keep listening to all my fears
Trapped right behind my early tears
Was searching for the truth behind
The truth is, I will never find
The gold of dust which far beyond
I hear the golden screaming sound
Of all the horrors we may have seen
The gap is obvious between
The darkness what we call the nil
Will bury our souls than, still Cause emptiness in all your hearts
But do not fear let's call it art.

THE GAP II

Great passion in the soulless body
A stench of feel that is to worry
Tracking back one day behind
Each word is spiraling right through your mind
Down below the gap you are
Yes, you do see, but it is too far Away from the dreams you dreamt ago
Your memories now are far too slow
To jump over this abyss of no
Just stand there, here, at the longest road
Try to reach behind with one sharp turn
And see the desperate, which soon will burn
Their lies and truths all over me
It's deeper than the deepest sea
We fall in them we cannot help
No mercy ourselves will melt
Before the dawn will pass the sun
In love with no- and everyone.

THE GAP III

Oh world, though you have never started
Still was the reason I departed
From the shortest word of silence
To the mountains which brought violence
Behind the scenes it looked not nice
I found the devil in disguise
I found the individual behavior
I found the rationality in all its flavors
It was a wish from every men
It was the emptiness we cannot ran
From out the bodies nor the soul
We had it lasted for us all
We had to bring it out to burning suns
We never trusted lightness once
And blinded like we are in the darkness
We sold the fortune for the hardness
Thought this was the right way ahead
Now every one of us is dead.

THE GAP IV

The love and passion in our heart
If it's fulfilled it hit us hard
With swarming lies of greatness taste
Of human nature aloneness waste
Brought in the body in human flesh
It always never will become so fresh
When our death is marching on
Were it will go he has never known
Comes into last it brings the pain
To march through sheep that will be slain
Go on be last we never know
The blood is rising, it feels so slow
It feels as we would bleed to death
The interaction is like math
It knows no reason, is itself
The system is the only wealth
Of system within systems here
It brings the joy, it brings the fear
Before it is what I said first
The second is, but remains the worst
What will and ever will be here
You don't know, and if you could would never bear.

THE gap V

Stingers in a hopeless task
Be afraid to having asked
What behind the sealed shot door
Dreams are coming even more
In the deepest hours of your sins
Remembering, remembering Can't find what you was looking for
Yes, it is behind the door
Was sealed shot you can't get in Remembering forgotten sins
In deepest hours of your task
Was sinking in, afraid to ask
So even more you want get in
You don't remember all your sins
But dreams are telling what you are Forgotten soon behind trapped doors
Sealed shot, so that you never know
So you want what you looked for
But it's not there, so see the truth
It is far way before your youth
In feelings rather words you hear
The door is shot, all left is fear.

the gap VI

Transcendent I'm falling from the sky
Oh no it is Earth which drags me down
Oh no it is the blue moon who watches me
Sun, don't let him follow my trail
Leave me in despair, but not leave me alone
In this place of no hope
Of singings from DNA
Which far belong more here than I do
And goes beyond the short reality I see
With you and without me
Drag me down, and turn me up
Throughout the corpses I have forgot
The reason of this living world
Goes in structures of the curl
He, and she, who dares to ask
My soul is in this body's cask
Will grow old and transforms the spirit
Where is eternity, I can't find it.

Drinking sand from deserts rose
What was water once for those
Is now evil that propose
Lying to the one he chose Wandering in nomads land
What he sees don't understand
Anything what he has touched
Was the thing that he just watched
Crying dust from dried out eyes
Thinking back of all his lies
Trying to find the truth behind
It was stranger than this land
What he saw were roses red
He was lying in his bed
Was so peaceful and just quiet
Maybe he just going to die
And this feeling just belong
Beyond the point where it haunt's
Seeing that he smiles away
His sorrow which stood for decades
Now it's my turn he screamed out
The desert only heard this sound.

It was told that we are free
But no feelings could have been
As the one in times of war
So much blood and so much gore
Dripping through the sea of blood
Manifests from what he brought Piles of rotten bones and flesh
Tripping from the ceilings dash
Yes, you saw the giant too
It was when you felt so blue
Carnage in your lonely soul
Hoping to pay the keepers toll
You saw it once with your own eyes
You are fucked, comes with surprise
Watching now what has been given
In the land of the dead living
Blink away the landscape back
It's now beautifully packed
What was a dream a nightmare's end
Seemed to bring what heaven sent
Could one say what's right or wrong
I do not feel anymore that strong.

The world seems too divided
The horror and the heaven
Seems that they will touch each other
In the middle of our lives
We think about what we have done before
What we will do in future days
Oh well, we have it both we know
But tales are told not by ourselves
And songs are sung for forgotten ones
Still grass is green and skies are blue
Even if the world collides
With other dreams that can't be true
However, trying to catch us with lies
So give away the sorrow now
Just think about what you have here
It is enough, indeed, more than you need
You have to see it with the force
As darkened clouds try to make you gray
Yet, sun is there, it shines on you
Forget the pain and feel the warmth
Of what is here with others too
Can always choose, that is your fate
And what will make a difference
If you live a life of sadness
So please think twice and take one at a time
For you, for me, for everyone.

Swimming through the sea of love
My feelings floating high above
Never want to come down again
Never want to lay in the rain
Everything we can decide
We can have just so much pride
To do things we want to do
Laugh away the tears from you
Happiness can simply achieved
In this world of misery
Do not think back, forget the past
Only think which should live at last
In the heart and in the soul
You have to die but not your fault
It is the second that will slip
This gives the heaven that you seek
So just be brave and forget it all
Problems are indeed too small
For you and your great wish you have
That you ever will can save.

The dreams of you are so bizarre
You lie naked on the car
The hands are tied, you have no fear
A man is coming but you cannot hear
Him as he walks just so damn slow
It seems he forgot where to go
I shout you just have to go now to the car
I looked at me and found a scar
Not sure why I could not find it before
It is now part of all before
What he has done I do not know
When they belong but do not go
Who better move with this loud flow
But is it outside of yourself
Or it's the clock which gives you help
The car becomes the timeless past
The new just arrives that fast
Hello, I said what do you want
I am your fear, which now will haunt
Oh wait I know the trick of yours
I woke just up, know all your doors which I slipped through.

Always loved you
But you could not see
Everything just a fading memory
Of something what you saw long time before
Now in the end, it does not matter anymore
Things have gone, and the rest will not last
Future memories of forgetting all the past
After all is washed away nothing is left
A hollow sculpture without any depth
He told me that he is living in a wheel
That spins back and forth with too much he has to feel
He broke his back and sworn to fall apart
To build up back the pieces, then he calls it art
What he has seen, is nothing anymore
Faded in decade, faded into gray
Pictures running through his streets of rage
But in the end again, he will turn away
He gone tell me it is o.k.
He will soon be gone, or just will fade away
Nothing will left of him, like billions before
He said he just do not want to think about it anymore.

The faces of war you have seen
Three of them, nothing in between
But oscillations around this symmetry
That goes on till our eternity
Whereas the heart in flames will scream in joy
The coward man sits like a boy
Above all sees the one who thinks
And combines the missing links
Reality will hit them hard
The death behind, not far apart
Make clues of what you have to feel
Make houses of clouds what seems like wheels
That come and go like waves in the sea
Soon will forget your misery
As winner, loser, hear a near silent whisper
That will tell you that he is with her
Comes to dance, one latest turn
That will start fire and let burn
All our thoughts and what we have learned
Not clear what is the meaning of it all
One just stand's there, and then will fall
Another comes and takes the place
For us, it is again the same new face
It seems like one big disaster
But there always one will come thereafter.

With no voices that you heard
The pain increases every minute
Do not know what I should do
However, I know that we now have to fight
With misunderstandings that we could not solve
An ice winter came in our land
Not strings that we can pull us up together
Just bitter words in each one's mouth
So get along till your inner voice will crush
Dance like a madman in disguise
A brand new feeling is emerging
Still we want to have it another way
To get through the darkness and back to light
On the other hand, it is so much we can have here
The feelings just dark but very strong
What should I want else from this situation
A torture, true it is, but makes a song sing lighter
And were darkness is there is always the sun
Of something different that it is shining on
So still, if we feel sad, nothing is lost
As these words came to the world, just like a child
And they are beautiful for its own sake
Not human anymore but more like society is today
With this own words we drink the ocean
A glimmering hammering on the ambos
Falling down and making new stars,
For me, for you, for us all.

You said, you will love me all the way
A false moment and still everything the same
Just hanging like fruits from the tree
I wished I could be as free
Nothing to do, or to think about
The words are still the barrier to the truth
Nevertheless I am the only thing left from them
A picture, a frame, of what we have become
No colors as if we are only black and white
A process between two lines which eventually collide
Something new before we start to believe in our ideas
And pass away, a new entrance for the purified
Victims of the world, of our goal
Believing in this as it was theirs all the time
But what is deep inside their soul
May be quite different of what they thought it will be True for you my friend, and true for me
Let's give our hands and try the game of hide and seek
A funny world as long as we don't breed
No, it is not boring or something similarly
It is what animals just feel, for thee are real.

A drifting, like needles which fly close to the eye
A kind of fear that just turned now into hate
To do the things I was supposed to do
It was a sin but now you said it is just more than you
It was dictated from the big one mass
With it everyone forgets the peaceful past
Now we just kill each other without doubt
It will pass away and something new comes out of the cloud
What was the victim then just worth
Nothing and it's not remembered on this earth
You can think but it will not going to help
The feeling was, and you differently felt Like insects that are going to fight
A one is not a link to another one's pride
Still it is the only thing which is left
But then again, you will soon be forgotten too
I can't help I now felt so damn blue
But above of us is one beautiful sky
And the sun will tell our truth from lies.

Everything you saw on me
Was once also you
It came out from the misery
Now it's only you
Back and forth my hand will go
You will never lie
That we had so much from you
When you always cried
But the truth, I cannot lie
Is far beyond my reach
Coming from this battlezone
There's only one thing I can teach
Drifting through my ashes
As it was my soul
I gave up humanity
Hence I gave up all
You did the same long time ago
I will not regret
That I saw your bladed face
What I soon will make
Drifting through my ashes
I said it before
But what really makes it feel
Is just like a whore
Not a me and not a you
Just someone we paid
I don't know for sure
If this is plain sad.

We saw mankind behind the fences
It was like the infernal sky
While it heightened our senses
It did not showed us the reason why
There was no one who was unharmed
Life was simply bigger than me our yours
A system born from the abyss
Now asking for the innocence
So dirty in the very inside, inhuman, no one knows how much
Just a glimpse from everyone
Put together like a puzzle
Which gave a picture no one understood
As good as strategies that shaped the form
Was the quest for reasons, no one heard
Except the king which sat on his throne
And even he was like a puppet
But did not knew or could not believe
So everyone walked in to the sea
To darkened depths we all alone together
Saw the hell of ourselves, still no problem after all
Said the reality which gave no answers
Of all our questions that we had.

Bizarre dreams are remembered well
A glimpse of truth which lies beyond the consciousness
Creates the questions that we want to answer
In the valley of our confusions
Fighting together and against each other
As nobody knows the name of us
Skies lightning, the land is red
Full of blood of the innocence
Still not clear what all is about
A wanderer through landscapes of ideas
Gives not satisfaction, wherever he is looking
But beautiful things are recognized
There is an end, she said
And there was a beginning, he responded
Both at spectrums far, far away
Still so close as they would touch each other quickly
No other vision could be seen
Also with all the tales which told before
No light that shines all of the earth
And make the darkness disappearing
What can be found here is not for one
But one I am, and so are you.

Behind my side, the eye will see
A different one, but some of me
It comes with no surprise
That these are not my own eyes
They are the next which cannot see
Before the stare into reality
What comes before will not be known
Or soon forgotten, not be shown
What they will want is not enough
Even if all the others starve
They have only the feel for them
It is also not seen as sin
It comes and goes, nobody knows
It is a world that has the dose
Of antidote and poison skin
Their bodies floating like they swim
Transferring to another sky
It keeps the same what they ask why
As said, they soon will never learn
It keeps behaving and it burns
Still they do not know which one is wrong
It can be found within this song.

If I see into your heart
I just want to make it stop
Truth I searched but found lies
Hidden behind alibis
What was right and what was wrong
Soon forgotten in your home
Of despair and fear of lies
Crows are friends of mine you know
Behind my back they tell me all
And they said it nevermore
To find the love in this small town
Where the battlefield was once
And soon will be again my friend
You feel the emotions come to life
And with it all the symmetry
Breaks down and let be chaos now
Still what to do we all don't know
Maybe you do so please tell me now.

One step ahead and enemies are there
With all their hatred they want to see me dead
And also you they want to confess
A world with no meaning is what they search for Which can be called hell, it is more than we want
An animal that shows a mask of humanity
But only want profanity
Do not give up and held high up your light
It will guide you through storms and more that will come
And if you die, you will not die in vain
Nothing more can be asked as you become the creator
And with creation you become eternity
With tears coming from the deep ocean
You make what you cannot kill
A new life a new love a new dream
But before you have to go naked to your enemies
They will not give up, they want you dead
Give them yourself and do not forget
That is the meaning of life of an angel
Of a beautiful thing, yes, you are
So fly, fly up to the sky, and never come back
I will stay here, as an enemy of yours and mine
Detonated into nothingness, a dark place here
A bright place, so many truths, oh, I should not see
But you can now, and so I ask
What do you see, I have to know.

Come to paradise
It is much better than in hell
So why not to choose the better
And be part of the good
But if you evil
Than go where you have to belong to
And see the beautifulness also there
Both exists as you know
But only the evil knows the saint
So chose the innocence or the truth
A spell is given to everyone
And long ago you also decided
Which way to go
Now turn back and see what lies behind you
If you not like it, go somewhere else
And even in the smallest prison
You may create your own paradise
With your mind and spirit
And the strong will to survive
What was once just a trashcan of remaining instincts
But now, now, you can swim through time
And before you know, the years have passed
A second before death you awake
And you feel that you survived the evil land
Death will come, and hold your heart,
But you don't need it anymore,
As you did long time ago, as so many others
Up to heaven then, fly, fly away from here.

In between, the naked flesh
I promise that was done just in time
As she is going smoother
It bothers me but yet again
The bones and muscles stuck together
Consumed in women's mantel as she likes
Bitter in a sweet memory it calls me back
Done before and after as no morning
Will come back to us to awake the dusty grounds
Where ghosts and demons haunt the spirit soul
And sadness lies between the thrones
Of emperors which fight and won
Or lost, they soon be are forgotten
To landscape changes, but still the same
All the time, all the time,
He said and thought of the infinity
A self conclusion in ages of times
With a black sun that shines to light
The ones that are less than a thing
The breaker which makes anything.

Far, far away the journey goes
Into a land nobody knows
A quest for glory and for fame
Sure this situation will get lame
And burned with fire to the ground
It was no reason, there was no sound
Of people and masses
A sleep thousand years old
A treasure which was never been sold
Now is here, it is the price
Tested for functions, one never knows
It goes around and comes back for you
With all your loved ones, make it true
But only outsiders like the life you live
And you know what it is to be here
So swear, no significance to anything
Which is bothering you in your swim
What you thought to be your wildest dream
But nightmares come just in between
The luck, the laughs, the singing voices
Go on, check yourself, it maybe poison
An antidote to this deep sleep
You better know and you should keep.

Time is drunk as a monkey
I came to the zoo and saw just another junky
With its plastic hair and festival nose
Shining in the sun as he walks along
Two bare naked ladies waited for him
Got a new dose and a bottle of gin
Jumping on the train with the other harlequins
Never saw so much sport in one bin
Tracking down to the old town
People dancing on the streets just as it would be fun
Lighting up the trashcans, now a lamp in the dark Watchman behaving like they are smart
Balloons full of gas are used to drive cars
Exploding in the sky like they were the last Down below the rest is just eating all on the asphalt
So hot as it was the sun itself that was here
Talking to strangers, nobody understands
Still as we looked through nearly everyone danced
No music till we heard there is some wind
Taking an umbrella and a dragon under my skin
Too much to do so laid down and rest
If this was his world, than I will be the test
Building up a bar and burning down the house
Alcohol is free and we all will get applause
A sexy time for everyone.

A darkness rose as I slowly understood
The way we are born determines it all
Suicide is like a way to change the cards
Like a battlefield where randomness is all about
Is the luck you born within a mother womb
And everything which will come along
The blood gets thicker as you grow old
In between the luck again will strike
Still the start determines it all
In between the love will given
Still the start determines it all
In between the path is walked to fortune or shame
Still the start determines it all
In between new life is born
Their start determines it all
Determined from the start
Nothing can change the start
Nothing you can do to play with new cards
But one thing than to change the game
And lose again but this time with pride
As an creator of something new or old
Is it enough, we may ask ourselves.

A treehouse is passing by my sight
Seems that I wanted to start a fight
Again, what I wanted to be Seems just a fading memory
High above the limits of the mind
I saw myself and any other kind
Of blasphemies I would not consider save
Maybe I want to be just another slave
Slipping down with strokes that give you pain
The thoughts are speeding through my brain
I love to do this all the time
I want myself but myself is not a friend of mine
Could see what I would very like to do
Had once before not the slightest clue
But now the whispers in my head
Telling me that I'm already dead
I want to have what once destroyed me
I want to have it from a she
Like it so much but only if it's free.

Sleeping ideas but chained against the wall
I wanted to be so big but I feel so damn small
I wanted to have everything but now I threw it away
Started my career but now I need to pay
Started my career but now I want to stay
Hidden lies turned everything to truth
Now I don't know any other color than blue
I close my eyes but the darkness is no friend
It just shows me what I have to expect at the very end
But open I saw everything to bright
Seems that I was blinded by the light
Stumbled through the world and did not see it coming
To tell these feelings I can only sing
Songs that do not fit in this new age
Maybe I simply just need a break
Than again my heart just beats too fast
My deathwish is here to stay at last.

These roses are red like the blood in my veins
Inside the magic space an orgasmic race
To my heart and soul which you stole
Now in this whole the world could fit
And indeed the nothingness speaks the truth
In thousand languages it talks to me
All of them I can understand as they held my hand
And bring me to lands never to be known
But I am carried like this is my home
Roaming around with the help of these keepers
But there they do not want to see us
No escape from the eye of the beholder
Why should we pretend to be smaller
As giants we walk through this land
The time is running like sand through his hands
So big but still too small
Cannot walk all these ways to the end at all.

Troubled waters learn to swim
You saw the light but still don't see
How much I wanted you to help me
But your voice came from too far away
Like in a mountain the echoes in stereo
How said it first no one should know
Bright your mind but dark your soul
I lost everything to you after all
Now sit on this throne all alone
It's like that hell came with you all along
You are here so that I can enjoy my pain
Without you it would be only me to blame
But then again, it was you who made me feel
Now I am no flesh but hardened steel
A robot with wires that control emotions
Less than a wave from the ocean
Be there but gone soon
You took everything in the fusion
Of me and you the dresses like skin
While we have not anything left now within.

Lost in the middle Between two extremes
The symmetry of boredom
Chaos that fluctuates through your skin
A back and forth
Nothing in between
As the end that ends itself
Infinite beginnings as chains of chances
Tracking it down with the silent box
Open it up, nothing in it
As the dark that sucks you in Lost, between two extremes
Looking back and the box reappears
Just the two of us now
Still not one of them
A process that never will halt
As long as you stay here
As long as you are not on one of the side
A falling, a flying, a drifting through space
The stars and suns as friends
Alone but attracting each other
Invisible but strong
Till the distance collapses
And everything is one again
In the silent box
The symmetry.

Into the void, all air around you
One's wish is another's nightmare
Paid in coins, nobody knows
A currency from ancient times
Now lost in the Zeitgeist of our time
The great surprise of more than two Hasting through the seconds of life
A confusion surrounded by music
The music of death in the dark
For all of us, all left behind
From the seeker of truth and finder
Now we know what it's all about
Everything before now is old and should be forgotten
Once blind, but now a one-eyed queen
Give praise to this secret revealed
A new version of you can be created
More within the truth than anyone ever lived before
But can be lived without the tragedy
Try it out and it will show itself
A new mask which comes closest to the realm
Of your true face.

In the midst of everything
The nightingale still wants to sing
No difference that she makes today
She lives your life, you have to pay
The song she sings will blow your mind
It is not anyone its kind
She likes to fly and dance away
Coming here but leaving today
Drunk of joy she does not know
The harsh conditions in the cold
Why should I, she was asking me
Because you are not what you supposed to be
I said, but she just laughed out loud
You are so equal like in a crowd
I am so completely different
I want no war, don't want a friend
Just want to sing all day along
This kind of living for me not wrong
What is just right for you don't know
But if you do, than tell me so
But I don't know it either yet
Will sing with you till I will fit
Inside that mind I used to be
Maybe I have to lose my memory.

Giving birth to one small thought
Blowing up that piece
Nevermind
Maybe it is something one could find
A hint, an arrow to other places
Just the glimpse of insanity may be enough
Looks probably normal for everyone
Not sure about anything
Lost confidence but at least not the will
To search for what it is
If you do it right
You will pay the price
At the end
Do not betray yourself
Or someone else
Will not be worth
Still you have to do
To see the awful truth
Then you learned
That wisdom has to be earned.

Look behind and look in front
You were born from different sons
Dreams came true but were not yours
Opened up all secret doors
Words were spoken but you don't know
What was curled can't even flow
Did you recognized even so
That we all walked through before
Cities, skies of angel dust
What once first, will also last
Views of you will leave to past
Search for something that's your cask
Waited so long long ago
Memories not last these big before
Drinks with men and drinks alone
It was not made of skin and bones
Ghosts they called but hunters they be Deep within your memory
The wait and want to see.

Why the look so disgusting
Is it that they lost their will Long forgotten did not know
What they found just long ago
Through my eyes the fire starts
Burning through my bloody heart
I was never ever part
Still controls me, nearly lost
Ruiner is what I have to host
Dreaming of the dreadful coast
In a bottle an old post
It says what the thing will cost
That represents reality
Far beyond of what we see
Far within the bravest heart
Come above and will then start
Thinking of what was once learned
Actually it was just burned
Not reasons were the changing art
It was violence that torn me apart
Picked now up the pieces again
Put together, was it a sin
Everyone told we are great
However, all I felt was mixed with hate
As you just feel, just look within
How much you have to look away from him
Or she it does not matter here
Something stolen, now we fear.

Oh great master tell me so
A heart came once, a glimpse was seen
The differences we made were just an illusion
Too near to be not heard, just a whisper
Traveling through the lies of the world
Obeyed, cannot look somewhere different
A value that is a stigmata
Dancing into the dark, what kind of song you like
Do not want to hear the song of desperation
From outside strangers that want to rule
These laws are not mine
At least I deny them and see their true face
Coming from places never been before
And never want to be
Do not know but they have devil faces
And devil thoughts, a word that want to be heard
Going away, leaving this place
Strangers who do not know you
Are pictures of what you deserve
A desert wanderer of these feelings inside
Somewhere an oasis
Time to rest, time to think about it through Coming back with a new soul.

A signature of life
Bigger than me and yours, again
Emergence as a divine comedy
A puzzle put together by masses
Individuals, oh, you wanted to see
But the truth lies beyond your imagination
However, now it is the time
Nihilism spreads as a virus killer
Tells the truth to the nearly non-existent
We don't want to know
They said, the truth still stands there
A horizon far far away is the goal
To be reached within one lifetime
Mission impossible
Still be tried by the desperate
For search of meaning
Will they find nothing else as themselves
A new look, a new sentence
Beyond the simple world the poets wrote about
In stories the mighty wanted to be heard
Will earn fortune and that is the will of the ones
But new things will be coming like a wave
And wash away the old and bring the new
A tear and a laughter will merge
A new face to us and let us try it too
It will be new, it will be new.

Time reverses to the skin
Feel the pain that lies within
From the painters of the world
Their eyes are dead, their tongue is curled
A victim of this brutal crash
The blood still pumping, it is so fresh
Another one that bites the dust
Bones that rot like iron's rust
A memory that fades away
Soon after you fell dead
Brings back good old memories
I want them too, so help me please
To look through fog, which hinds the sight
I want to fly, I feel so light
I want to fall down and hit the dirt
I want so much, it always hurts
I think of you as my enemy
All you have, I want to be
I do not know why this is the case
But myself can see your pretty face
That we all like to kiss but cannot do
That is why all we see is blue
They said that it is like in the sky
But all the skies can't tell us why.

I felt that I was asking a thousand times
Still no response that had to do with me
A byproduct of something else
A neighbor within a closed circle
Hunted for speeches
Watched what she said
Her words were everything but me
A game of luck to get what I wanted the most Trying again and again
To be the mentor
I wanted to be
The silence made everything too loud
The thoughts increased its speed
Going back and forth
What was wrong with these ideas
Going hand by hand
Around the places like a clock
Constantly flowering the smallest seeds
Too much to see anything anymore
A jungle of my own feelings
One time the hunter, one time the prey.

What is worth to live for they ask
A glimpse of memory they search for Dust clouds go up and down
Nothing changed within this world
A sentence made from confused rock
A mountain that collapses
The sky watches relentlessly
A choir is singing like the wind through the trees
It is the wind through the trees
Nothing else what left
To watch the sunlight on the hills
A luck for they which are yet exist
Else a something not worth anything
Just to be, just to be Holding hands with the earth and universe
What does it mean without the senses
And what it means with them you ask
The view outside the golden bar
Goes back just were you started once
The same question again
You have to make the answer by yourself
The creator of your own world
Which dies but will not fall apart.

Tropic breezes from the ocean
Reminding us all to live life to the fullest
What would it mean anyway they are saying today
And before something else was chosen from
Which came back and again long forgotten
A carousel of restless dreams
A joke that was made without any help
All the time we could not see
That the joke was on me, on you, on us
So we wanted to die as we saw the naked truth
Which was so inhuman and barely recognizable
Our little key will not bring us too far on the street
So let us make wings that burn when they touch the sun
Falling down, after flying up so high
Blinded we are going through the sky and clouds
Like a tropic breeze it feels,
From the ocean down below
Coming back to us, we are coming back
To join the myth and to dissolve from what we came.

A drunken cause of hypocrisy
Lay in bed but it's not me
Coming from the world of she Never wanted to be free
Saw the chains and liked the weight
Going strong, but now it fades
To the bones which I served well
Stories that we never tell
Going blind in sunlight bliss
There is always something I miss
Want to smile, give you a kiss
But you show me only your fist
Mind is blogging texts are written
Truth behind the lines is hidden
Men will never gone fit in Water and blond is where we swimming
Dreaming, causing one to happen
To the very last of sentence
Is it worth what we are thinking
To be told as we are bring in
The world which did not exist before
I don't want to say no more.

All of your explanations
It makes me jealous that you want to be so good
A new idea for every page
To satisfy yourself
An bring up great memories and thoughts
Which others could now say
I saw it too, I saw it too
But imaginations are the source of all
And even if I will not tell the scene
It is still a lie
It's less than nothing you said
And this makes it move
What brought me here
Wanted to tell about the man of war
The shattered souls
The horrific truth
But solutions are coming and we can prevail
What would you say now
With electrons doing what was told
Emergence all around, not being part and still here
No difference with and without us
A fear that cripples through our skin
That is not we, that is a machine
But we are not, so flee as soon as you can
With masses a new thing arises
And betrays our ideas and hopes
But not you, so leave and tell your tale
Nobody did and the last hope is you.

There is a system out of us
It does not care about me and you
It is beyond the single death
It is the monster that is true
It takes your body takes your soul
It takes it all
While you are thinking about what to do
The system clashes, breaks you too
It takes your arm, it takes your leg
It does not think that this is bad
It does not see you after all
You are a nothing, simply too small
It crushes you like an insect here
It does not know about your fear
The others kill you mindlessly
There is no we, only the me
The system laughs as it prevails
It always win, even it fails
We dream about as like a movie
While it kills you and think it's groovy
It is not a scene for anyone
The system makes for all the dawn.

I cannot see away from me
The thoughts are on a killing spree
They want me dead, they nearly are here
There is so much I have to fear
I have been trying not to hate myself
But the past was there and hit my shelf
I crushed it broke like it always did
I block the thoughts but they still hit
Lying on the bedroom floor
Don't want to think now anymore
Escape is what I also fear
They demons are now all too near Hearing their whispers, they tell the truth
Before they came I had no clue
Now I know more than I wanted to know
You hear them now, you hear them too
The silence kills the me and you
Have to run out it will be behind
I'm too alone I want a friend
Who bleeds with me and I bleed for him
Alone I lose, together we win.

There was once a man
He was near heaven
Full of wisdom
Told the things which are beyond of us all
Philosophers who feared him
The grim smile
A tragedy, don't you think
All day all seconds
He was too loud, lived in the mountains
The waterfall for his thirst
Stand next to him and open your mouth
Keep your head high
Like stones the rain is coming down
Not seeing anything
Only the sound of clashes
Going deep
Far, far away, there was once a land he said
We cannot see it anymore
Too far away
But it is still there
No ships, but we can swim
Let's swim there again
Where we wanted to be
Maybe alone, maybe together
Our love will guide us
To the land most do not understand.

The good alone does not born a child
It sits down to the sun and dissolve
What a secret to the second of its existence
Fading away and forgotten
At last, it comes again
Is this enough asks the opposite
The endless wheel that gives no meaning to all
Creator of the world, a new Blizzards leaving the places to roam
Both coming together, who is who
A question which dared to be answered
The shadow comes
A thinking under a ton of rocks
No escape whatsoever, so let us think
The end, the beginning, a start from nomans land
Not to be heard, not be seen
Still there, think about it, what will you do
Not be heard, not be seen
A scream
What does it matter it asks from the dark
No escape, not until now
Before the weight crushes us all
We raise the hands to the air,
We all could be saved, but for what price
No one of us is a hero anymore
So you think under the earth
Which is the sun for others making everything alive.

The destroyer of the soul
Just do as it was told
Behave like all they want
Soon your heart is gone
Do everything you could Extremes put you into this mood
A small step far away
And all your loved ones have to pay
The ashes on your throne you see
They are no more reality
You turned to stone
You turned to dust
So nothing more is one great must
The skies they will not shine for you
The water will not turn to blue
The feel you had will fall apart
You were so dumb, now you be smart
But all this will not help you more
Its only blood, its only gore
Your heart is like one big whore
Who forgot itself now want it more
Nothing left to see
You gave it away the feel
How to bring it back you ask
Last thing to do, build your own cask.

You say I, but I say you
There's nothing in between us two
You feel the sky, I feel the blue
The strangest things soon can't be true
You dreamt the dream
Now what is left
Is thinking what remains as best
You saw the past, you made your step
There's only one thing you regret
That all what you may seen today
Will eventually fall to decay
A different thing will longer last
It goes away, with one big blast
It is the more of me and you
It knows exactly what to do
It haunts our dreams, it makes us sick
It is a lottery, a ticket to pick
Makes all you see, changes the way
It does not matter anyway
What left to told, I need to sing
The thoughts are like a giant ring.

A word of wisdom each one just had
But with discussions it all will break
It should stay close were your heart is
The certain death is another's kiss
Do not mind even if it's dark
The others walk in the same park
With culture that has taught some things
But were not able to give wings
We stay just here, who win who lose
It does not matter what you chose
An outlier who will get thrown
From this small world, from his small throne
Another comes, another goes
The light will never ever glows
To infinity and beyond time
A single mind that calls this fine
Will die in vengeance, in one big cry
You see no reason, see no why
A bigger thing is running wild
Your thoughts so cold, your thoughts so mild
A fear has told us all these things
That it is no we, why it's happening.

A world of meaning is
What you are looking for
It settles nothing
Blows the score
A deep uncertainty in your own thoughts
A kind of anger that you blocks
A swimming over sharks you know
A never ending don't let go
A deadline what you just have met
A reason that you want forget
A treasure in your deepest soul
A steel that is too hard, too cold
A dream that whispers in the wind
A word just like a little hint
A looking back to one wrong road
A picture that you once have showed
To you and only you should see
The next big time discovery
You think is new but it is now old
It was the soul you once have sold
You have it back, not much time left
Now sing the blues, now do the test
Just one shoot you have, so do it right
The world too often lied
Wanted to keep your sleep as well
You waken up, now you in hell
So break the spell
Just do it now.

Part of the heat
Coming from the sun
A lifeless planet under our feet
Sweating for the cold
Dressed like skin
Clouds of ashes going into the sky
A sad goodbye
Memories from the past
Drifting through the thoughts
A scythe like feeling
Air all around you, again
Soon the wings will catch fire
Falling down on what was built up
A small dot, nothing to see
We think, but it is true
The thing least to be seen
Is closest to us
Right before you it looks at you
A paper fits in between
Where I wrote these words down
To get the distance needed
Away from the heat
The sun, which is a lifeless planet.

In a moment long ago
The winds have changed
Bring old dust back
Keep memories awake
Mixing with spheres
An overlay of tears
Altogether in the same mood
The horizon so near Moons are watching you
Keep you awake
Restless in your bed
Full of energy
You have to stand up
Into the dark
Seeing nothing you still walk on
A new idea, a new life
Waits outside
Also the abyss
Both are together
Married long before
They open their hands
You go to them
Disappearing into the night
Something new will born
Inside you.

They stranded on a pile of bones
They looked around, were all alone
They figured out that this was hell
They never ever felt so well
It was the difference what was good
It was despair which was like food
It was the stench of rotten meat
It was the glimmering of eternal heat
If like the water again turned blue
If like the money was not too few
If like the word was more than tone
If like the abandoned was not alone
True they suffered horribly
True that they could not see
True that nobody would ever choose
True that they never wanted to lose
But all it was, was left behind
But all they did before, was like they were blind
But all their thoughts were like behind the cloud
But all their souls were all too loud
Therefore they built their new homes here
Therefore they thought have disappeared
Therefore they went were nobody wanted to be Therefore they now see reality.

Closest to the nearest end
You become what you should have been
The crusher of your pain and dreams
Lies between the gate within Keep you pushing down the hall
No more secrets kept at all
Everything will fall apart
See the pieces of your heart
Will it be a crumbled soul
Will you hear the final call
Was it already a long time ago
That you kept within the flow
Could not see what lies above
Something powerful as love
Now you face the reality
Nothing is what used to be
Soon enough you will be free
What you want is what you see
Going down the lifeless tree
In the water down below
You will start to see what's now
No second will be lost today
When you fall into the grave.

We run but get nowhere
Dead eyes will take care
The soul has disappeared
Nothing left to fear
Happiness has gone long ago
Now go on with the flow
The river runs real deep
The truth you cannot see
The lies are all around
A fiction of the soul
Animals will haunt your dreams
Nothing what it seems
Speaking without tongues
All what left to be done
Starring in the sky
Stop to ask the why
Death will hold your heart
Nothing ever lasts
What to do with such kind of truths
Falling into blue
Is this what has to be
If yes, don't want it to see.

Confusion is a common thing
Make laughs make want you to sing
I want it all, nothing should be as it has been Through the fog I cannot see
Between the lines one once has told
Seems I am not that kind of bold
The sentences alone will cause despair
The tone alone I cannot bear
A song a women I have heard
Just so near but they too much hurt
Some kind of creation within nature
Left alone, nobody cares
Drifting through the space and time
Nothing I just saw was mine
People drag me down the places
Don't want to see their desperate faces
Cannot see me after all
Another step and I may fall
With you others I have to fear
That nothing to hold on is so near
That we all fall together now
Where are the wings that I once saw
Burnt because the heat to high
Nothing but an alibi
Try it now you still will fail
But it will look like you sail
In the ocean, the peaceful place.

Slumbering shades that turn to red
A black crow comes to me ask about my feelings
Was happy she was here, finally, the words will rise
But the eyes were too black, got lost
Asking for help, where am I, no place to hide
Like a drunk I searched for something to hold on
But I slipped and fell to the ground
You heard this once Jack, I know
A repetition like from a machine gun, you have to do it
There is no choice in me, at least not if I still want to be alive
The more you alive, the more you will die
Die today and live forever
Something new, I begged, but the horror came and gave the present
What acceptance, what philosophy of nothingness
Brings back the playground of our youth, new clamps
Where they will go and will they ever come back
Creator of the new, as always, but be careful
The truth is like men, don't give it to you until you love it
And maybe she will not give you something after all
Or something which will make you very small
A big pile of questions, all made by us
Nothing outside this bag, still so important
The weight gives confidence but one cannot fly
Still think one should stop to think
But I can't, no matter what, because we lifted too much
Now the world is on our shoulders
Together in the prison but find my way through.

Trampling the paths to stay
All is lost so here we play
Waiting for another day
Looking for another way
Drunken tunes from the opera
Hallucinations too bizarre
Making just another scare
Nothing in this world seems fair
Behind the scene you therefore look
Not one message in this book
Wondering what this will mean
Truths are hidden in between Blurred the lines so you can't see
The gap between is what you be Therefore you can see you free
An emperor of broken dreams
It is that what you wanted to see Questions raise and fall down straight
Nothing left to be afraid
Life is what you want to make
After all it's just a fake
Another reason one likes to hate.

These are their own words
A downfall before the insignificance
To be reached in time
Yet, far away enough to cause illusions
Bitter sweet the taste of these lips
A kiss from death, what can be wished for Brings up the feelings you just need
Makes everything beautiful again
Like a story without an end
Goes on and on
But what for you ask my sweet slave
Or am I the slave, or both of us
Where are the chains now
Disappeared into the dark sky
The moon has saved us today
Will save us tomorrow
No need to hurry, the tiredness will come
Brings the sleep we deserve so well
Waking up to another dream
Within a dream, who knows you say
But I know well what he just said
The re-writer was detailed about these things
The gap was there, it still remains
As long as we will think
It will not disappear, in fact
The gap is you
You just don't know.

Behind the mask the mask will look
As done once, just like it should
The miracle goes soon away
Fading too soon, left for decay
Sitting on this throne of bones
Not together, all alone
Thinking about me and you
Only thing now left to do
Is take this heart and threw it away
That I have felt, it has to pay
Now in this whole there is nothing more
One could think it was the core
But something else is stepping in Always lost, will never win
If more than two will be around
It burns the house down to the ground
And see what you have found
The ashes you want live now for
Again it wins but you don't care
It is the eyes in which you stare
Now movement becomes impossible
You simply try, but you can't feel
It is a paralyzing kind of state
That makes you breath
That makes your fate.

All my thoughts and all my words
Need an alibi
Don't know who is watching me
But it could be you
The Angst is there like a good dog
Always with me, never alone
A sign of our time
That we are together
In something incredible
Bigger than me or yours
So what they want
All about the money
The fame or something else
A reason to live with or to die for History will tell its story
But it is not either one of us
The new big will, the new large monster
Gives us the creeps, shivering through our spine
Break our backs, crawling on the ground
That is the view they have on us
Not the future men, but the past
Laughing at us on what we think we have achieved
Now only something like a small wheel
In the clockwork of the civilization
What time is it
Does not matter here
The watch is ticking not for us.

Arms are rising from the ground
Give weight and stability
Up to the sky they reaching not
Still the half of all emptiness is saved
Green light falls on brown wood
Something to rest on
The sound is coming down like a waterfall Changing every minute you listen to
Not too complicated to understand
But what it means is beyond your imagination
A lost soul on the planet sun
Wandering around but nothing is here
The look to earth makes the blood boiling
What kind of secrets it keeps
But your touch is death
You are death too to yourself
A clear mind is what you need
Impossible on this surface you are walking on
It is a story about you, my dearest enemy
All these words a gift
Maybe not to all the ones born now
A spell that was spoken to the universe
It came back, transformed to something new Cannot be translated by me anymore
But you can, the code within your heart
Will open up the gate
Look first, will you step in or step out
Your question for the quest, the first test.

Nattering in small doses
Becomes known as roses
Simple plain without a doubt
Seems to have a broken heart
Spears of love fly over us
No one hits, already passed
Where they land we do not know
Seems our will was not that strong
Running to the arrow fields
What is left now wants to kill
Together we will lay us down
We were distracted by a clown
What does it here it makes no sense
We all now laugh, it is intense
The grass is green, not turns to blue
Soon enough we see the truth
For now, we dance like there will be no past
What was left, will not long last
The laughter turns into one scream
It is not out there but within
We all gave hands and celebrate
There is just love, no one to hate
The flowers are big and fat
The smiling comes from one large cat
A place we heard all long before
Disappearance that suggested more
Ghosting from the steps across
One was found and one was lost.

Surprises an element of concern
The stability market goes out of bounds
A phenomenon which sets itself
Now in place and mightier than ever
What was blind at the beginning
Is now the one which leads us through
Behind the masquerade
The truth is there and will hit hard
Because now the king is coming
Brings gold and standard like a Kaiser
Does not want anything but the most precious
Our kids of ideas
The sweet blood
Like a Vampire it jumps on us
And we hold still till the end
Grab him, grab him now
As he is you which must be overcome
To something new, you know
A strange thing it seems before
But afterwards you make sense
And disappear into the sky
Never to be seen again.

The forest I was living in
Not dark as one may think
Everything came down together
To the bottom it will sink
Climbing up to see the light
The abyss was set aside
I don't know where I have been
But it stole my pride
In the space I was thrown out
The stars now make no sense
Voices whispering much too loud
They have built a fence
Looking through to paradise
The freedom was now my friend
It gave me all but left alone
What I was once have been Remembering back the days before
I was a child within the wood
I could not walk but understood
The gap I found was always there
I could have known just from the start
My eyes now only stare
To my wooden heart.

A wish they said has to be heard
To give the price away
I know that this is what they want
But I need here to stay
Therefore I will be known by not
It makes me wondering about
Is it the cold was once was hot
They wanted from the start
A small road which I was taken here
Cannot be seen by all the eyes
I will be forgotten, that's my fear
But also others cry
Jumping down the cliff they were forced
Of something once was free
They were not able to change the course just stuck within the We
The end will come once is enough
This promise given to us all
One will Grinch, the other laugh
But all we have to fall
So something new was here and gone
Nobody knows the why
The whisper of the final call
Makes all of us too shy.

Screaming words they will survive
Will get revenge when they arrive
Coming back to haunt you so
You don't know where you should go
Friends away and no place to hide
Your fear had made you open wide
Of the things that will collide
Taken first, will be your pride
Fortune teller had once told
Not to sell your heart and soul
The dark will come and takes control
Lying down in your own mud
Secrets that you long forgot
To be said what you should not
Somehow like you out of luck
Still the sentence runs through you
As the blood that makes you too
So you have to make it through
Can't describe what was the clue
Wandering around with no idea
Only thing is left to fear
Bringing out the whitest tear
That will make you feel the here
So what you think about this now

The feeling in your hands
Suns are burning
The unknown is out there
Where are you
A miracle to be here
The universe is full of stones
Thoughts of thousand lies
Careless flying around the orbit
Looking at them
Which one I choose today
Always the same
One planet to live on
No new surprises
Only shocks through shuttered nerves
Never been in war
But always fighting
The bombs rain, just differently
To hear their voices
Coming closer, going away
Still no response
But always checking
I see you there
An eternity away
Hear you, feel you
My only thing
It said goodbye
Was lost to the sky
Now I have to fly.

Cannot compare things anymore
What was we were looking for Stones will go, I left before
Seeing through the big red door
Giving in what was long gone
I have searched what be the one
Hotter than the hottest sun
I will bet she already won
Stars are glimmering in the night
All we have to do is fight
Going out where we be right
Gravity not defines my sight
Colors exploding around the scene
The watching is like flickering
Was once here and will have been
Faces as the grass is green
Drummers will put the rhythm out
All together one great shout
Letting everything now out
Once was said, but now was not
Triumph over what we fight
What was red is now great white
Coping with what was delight
Bitterness will stay tonight.

I know that it's living
I can feel its feel
I tried to
But had to hide
Now that I know
The truth will rip me apart
Just small reflections
Of the little reminder
What I lost along the way
Starred to long into the past
The path is blocked
To start again
Don't know what to do here
It can't be everything but pain
What was once white is now so dark
It drifts away from me
What was once soft is now so hard
I do not want to see
The space collides
No room is left
To hide away the skin
Truth was once told, it turned to lies
Where is the way I walked
Was flying nearly all the time
The path now blocked with salt.

I came over a table
I was not being able
To run under the table
The table was there
I was desperately scared
Of the truth it has shared
On what was above
In the hands of the mouth
Which ate all the rest
This was just like a test
Of a hallucination
With great complications
I did not see in the table
But now, not be able To overlook the under
Which was like the thunder
From the skies in the blue
Which was hitting you
Which brought you down
Did you hear the new dawn
It is you which will start
A life called art.

To this end
I have found myself
In mysteries of yours
The space as an ocean
Swimming into the abyss
Where light has not been
And the fire will be consumed
It was you all the time
I simply forgot
Still you are here
And now our voices can be heard
All of my nights and all of your days
The owl begins to fly
Into the sky
To search for more
The crows see and whisper their secrets
You stand here
Reflecting on what was once told to you
Was everything but a dream inside a dream
We asked
But there is more they told
And much of it will be gold
To be sold
On the throne of ashes
We sit and wait
Till the day comes
And now it is here
A new morning starts.